

Words

Words are like tokens in a sophisticated game,
When they change hands, they're no longer the same.
You should learn to use them, and know how they're used,
If you don't they won't tell you, and just leave you confused.
If you count on your own mind, then you are 'disrespectful';
If you pursue your well being, you're being 'unfaithful',
'Help' is to determine for you what you want,
and then force you do it, whether you're willing or not.
'Friendship' means loyalty without doubt or question,
'Love' means you become someone else's possession.
Beware of those who say that they care for you,
You won't need words to know those who really do.
You need to touch the definite, the clear, the real;
But those are too difficult for most people to deal.
They don't like to be all that serious,
They prefer the obscure, and enjoy the mysterious.
You want to ensure that a relationship will last,
You have to know if there's someone that you can trust.
Don't expect people to stay where they've been,
Don't be fooled to believe what they say is what they mean.
If you're looking for a safe place, you'll eventually find
That it can only exist in the depth of your mind.
Whether you sink into depression, or explode with rage,
This is how the world is, and it's not going to change.
So, rescue your innocence, hide away your naivete,
Or you're not going to make it in the NT world.
For, no matter how strong, you'll forever be a child,
left on your own to survive on the wild.